

Tax Specialist

Background info:

In connection with the past expansion of the Company into CE&SE markets and its current investment activities in London and other prospective real estate markets, in particular Istanbul, the company is looking for a tax specialist that would strengthen the Company's tax team, in particular M&A, tax planning and business structuring

Candidate profile:

- Finance / management / legal background and at least 3 years relevant work experience preferably within legal / tax international advisory firm
- Sound understanding of international tax law and treaty tax law proven in business practice
- Proven knowledge and practical understanding of GAAP / IFRS
- Responsible and creative person
- Analytical thinking, strong organizational skills and very good in process related questions
 - Experience with tax authorities, regulators and foreign/local tax advisors
 - Fluent English is a must, other languages are welcome
 - Strong computer skills especially word and excel
 - Ability to see wider context of assigned responsibility
 - Experience with tax project management and practical ability to lead particular tax projects

Responsibilities:

- Tax support during the transaction process (e.g. investment, divestment, business restructuring etc.)
- Set up of tax feasible structures and its further optimization and administration
- Cooperation with and coordination of external service providers in fields of tax matters and audit
- Tax support for the accounting department, legal department, acquisition department, leasing and asset management department
- Formulate tax recommendations for internal client applying understanding, technical knowledge and research
- Perform tax risk identifications, analysis and elimination proposals
- Set-up and implementation of new tax related procedures and guidelines
- Ad hoc queries and tasks

Personal Skills

We are looking for a proactive, logical and quick learning individual who can work well as part of a team to achieve the best results for the company with excellent communication skills and ability to work across the company with various teams and people. The candidates will be expected to apply, on a daily basis, both strong analytical thinking and sense for business reasoning.

We offer:

- Excellent career opportunity in growing privately owned company expanding internationally
- Offering cooperation on real estate development process from A – Z, e.g. planning, setting-up and executing various tax optimization techniques via different structures and extensive scale of instruments, including internal processes considerations and see results

Contact: work@easysoftag.de